In the Memory Garden at Charlie's Place

Dear Friends,

Our community had a challenging year in 2016, from unrest over shootings to the flooding that affected so many in the area. Despite the challenges Alzheimer's Services continued to deliver on its mission of serving those affected with Alzheimer's disease. As the nation and our government are becoming more and more aware of the tremendous burden Alzheimer's will impose on society, Alzheimer's Services is rising to those challenges every day by serving more of those affected, thus impacting our community positively.

The organization implemented The Sustainability Method of evaluating programs, services, and fundraising efforts. Keeping in mind that profit in the non-profit sector is considered impact (that we measure in impactful touches), the model measures these impactful touches and profitability. The results show what programs need to grow, should be invested in, or what may need to be eliminated, maximizing impact and stewarding donor funds in the most prudent way. Year to year comparisons will be used to assist the organization in strategically planning for future growth and investing in impact. Impactful touches are measured by an increase in knowledge, resources, or care of those served. We closed the year reaching 93% of the previous year's numbers, but are on track to reach the 2017 goal.

For the first time in four years, we did not meet our goal of a 20% increase in our impactful touches. We attribute this to August floods. There were dramatic decreases in attendance at programs as caregivers were doubly challenged with both recovery and caring for their loved ones. There was a significant increase in requests for respite care at Charlie's Place and respite reimbursement by families who were displaced. Disaster funding from the Baton Rouge Area and Greater New Orleans Foundations helped provide emergency funding to assist these families.

The Education Conference that occurred well before the floods achieved record attendance and received excellent evaluations on the presentation by Joyce Simard, MSW on Living... Not Just Existing... With Alzheimer's Disease. Over 250 caregivers and professionals in health care learned strategies to thrive while coping with Alzheimer's. The audience laughed and enjoyed Camille Claiborne, APRN, PhD as she presented the lighter side of caring for someone with Alzheimer's.

Services Director Dana Territo was named the 2016 National Adult Day Service Director by the National Adult Day Service Center Association. She received the award at the annual conference in Indianapolis, where she and Program Coordinator Katherine Schillings, MSW, presented "My Story", a tool developed to assist in providing person-centered care. Mrs. Territo also presented the It's Never Too Late interactive technology system with its creator Jack York, and the process of implementing this system.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Walk/Run to Remember was challenged for the second year with what was a potential move of another LSU game and the flood recovery efforts. Still, 103 teams made a great effort, and although the crowd was smaller, the message was just as big. LSU Coach Paul Mainieri and wife, Karen, were outstanding Honorary Chairs and led the sponsors and teams to exceed our adjusted goal by raising $153,185 in sponsor and team donations.

Our donors remained committed to the organization and many made additional gifts on top of their pledges following the flood, including a $100,000 donation from a generous donor. In addition, a campaign to raise $100,000 to be matched by the Lamar-Dixon Foundation and the Jo Lamar Family Foundation to establish Charlie's Place in Gonzales was announced at the annual Memories in the Making luncheon. Unsure of how the flood would affect the grants and donors, we were thrilled to reach the goal on December 31, 2016. Charlie's Place in Gonzales was successfully opened in April 2017.

Additionally, an astounding figure to report is the decrease in antipsychotic drug use in 21 of the 25 nursing homes that received our person-centered care training and Recollection Collection Kits. Although we cannot take complete credit for the full impact in the reduction of antipsychotic drugs, the evaluations indicated a profound impact on those trained. Louisiana as a state is no longer the highest user of antipsychotic drugs in nursing homes. Our philosophy of teaching caregivers to find the root cause of behavior issues through person-centered care is certainly validated through the results in individual nursing homes that were trained by our staff.

What a year! Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area made tremendous progress in many areas of need over 2016. I could not be prouder of this organization, board and supporters for their contributions. The leadership exhibited by so many is inspiring. Our continued success depends on engaging even more people in our mission.

If you haven't been to a Cause to Remember, please consider attending one so we can show you first hand all of the exciting things we are doing. Thanks to each and every one of you for your continued support and spirit. It has been an honor to serve our community along with you to help those most affected by Alzheimer's.

Sincerely,

SHAUNA SOPER

DONOR

Shauna Soper was born and raised in the Midwest in Omaha, Nebraska, and lived there until she married her husband, Dr. Steven Soper. Over 25 years ago, Dr. Soper accepted a job as a professor at Louisiana State University. Since then, he and Shauna have lived and raised their family in Baton Rouge. These days, Shauna spends a good bit of time with her three grandchildren when she is not working with her clients. She is a New York Life insurance agent, who helps individuals with their retirement planning, small business financial planning and transitions, as well as financial planning for families.

Before Shauna became an insurance agent herself, she worked closely for 10 years with Charles "Charlie" Spera, a well-known New York Life agent here in the Baton Rouge community. Upon his death in 2004, Charlie made a bequest to Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area establishing the Endowment Fund. The award-winning Charlie's Place Activity & Respite Center opened just three years later in 2007 and was named for Charlie Lamar, Charlie Spera and Charlie Valluzzo – the three Charlies – in recognition of their generosity toward Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area.

"I don't have per se a lot of personal experience with Alzheimer's disease, except through the Spera family when Charlie Spera's brother, Joe Spera, was diagnosed with early-onset Alzheimer's disease and passed away," she said. "My grandmother also had Alzheimer's years and years ago, but I lived out of state away from her at the time."

Though Shauna was introduced to Alzheimer's Services initially through working with Charlie Spera, it wasn't until Charlie Valluzzo invited Shauna to an annual Memories in the Making fundraising and awareness luncheon several years later that she truly came to understand more about the organization, Alzheimer's disease, and the struggles that affected individuals and their caregivers face each day.

The work of the organization is very special to her. Shauna said of her experience about her first Memories in the Making luncheon, "I was blown away. It was the facility and the services that are available to the community – they are unbelievable to me because I've never been around anything like this before, from the Lunch-N-Learn program and the Helpline to Charlie's Place."

One of Shauna's most memorable tours of the Alzheimer's Services offices and Charlie's Place was when the organization received the IN2L program. Shauna described that experience as "really neat and eye-opening to see how active and stimulating that Charlie's Place can be for the clients. It's a great place for caregiver respite, but it's so much more."

Shauna has carried on Charlie Spera's legacy through her gifts to the organization as a Rosemary Society donor helping to sustain the organization and the services it provides for years to come.

Volunteers at Charlie's Place

ROBERTA "ROBBIE" AVERY

VOLUNTEER AND DONOR

Robbie Avery is originally from Rhode Island and moved to Baton Rouge many years ago. Until her retirement, Robbie worked for Dow Chemical Company. In 1988, Robbie began working with the Louisiana Capital City Obedience Club's (LCCOC) pet therapy program. She now serves as the organization's Pet Therapy Program Coordinator and works with individuals in the Capital City area to ensure that, along with their dogs, they have the training to serve as volunteers for many area organizations, from nursing homes and assisted living facilities, to our very own Charlie's Place.

Charlie's Place is special for Robbie and her dog, Hudson, a Bouvier des Flandres. "I've made friends here," she says about volunteering at Charlie's Place. "We've had days where clients were having a difficult day and the dogs really made a difference. We've had some great laughs, too!"

In addition to her dog Hudson, several other dogs visit Charlie's Place throughout the year. From Golden Retrievers and Pembroke Welsh Corgis to Boxer mixes, each of the dogs brings something special to Charlie's Place.

"The dogs in the program are really just a vehicle to get everyone at Charlie's Place talking," Robbie commented. "Many people recognized that my dogs are unique, so they remember Hudson's name or that he's a Bouvier."

After serving as a volunteer for several years at Charlie's Place through the pet therapy program, Robbie and her husband, Bill, decided to become donors of Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area, under the condition that the funds would be used for something meaningful. "I'm very happy to give to Alzheimer's Services," she said. "Once you see that an organization is willing to give funds to programs and items that really help people, you're willing to give a lot more because it's truly going where it's supposed to go."

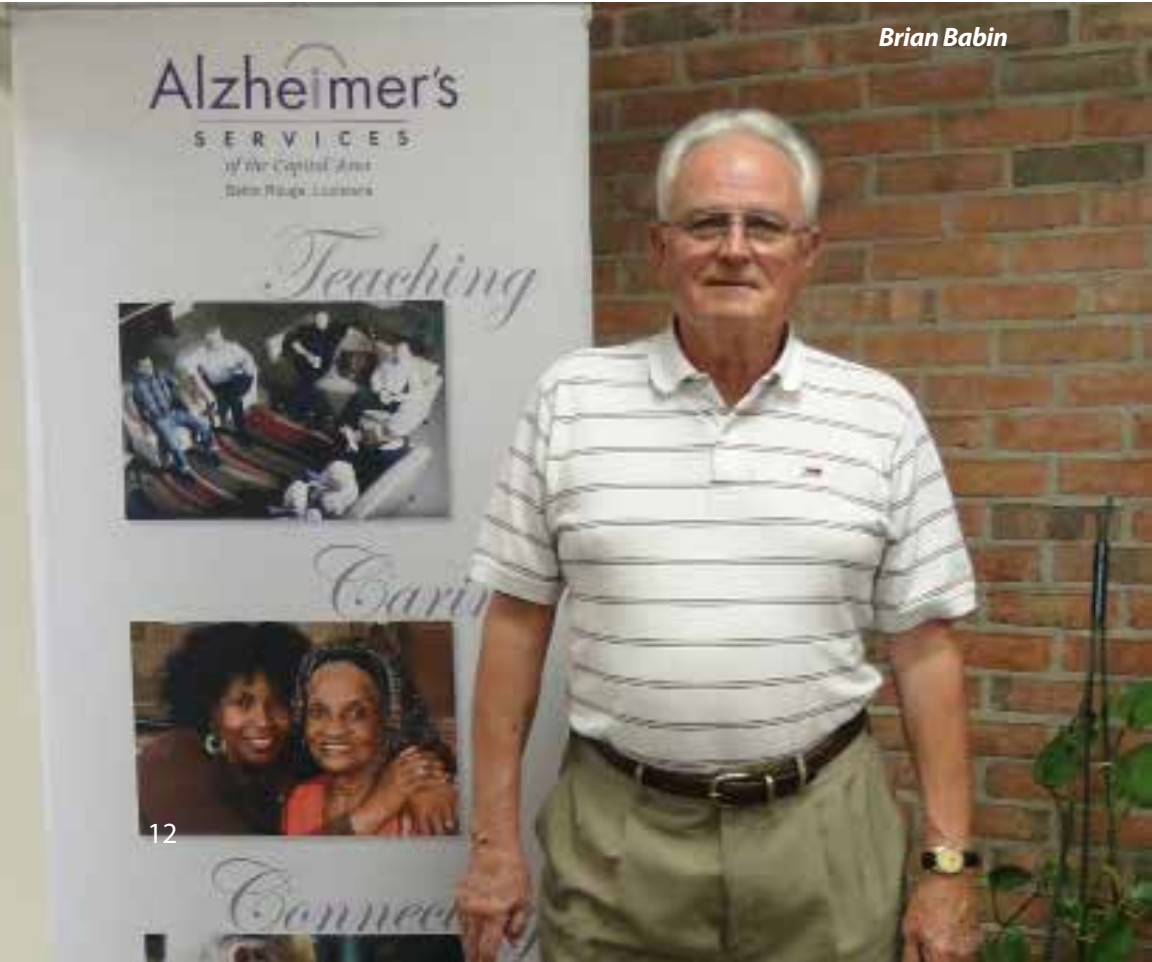

BRIAN BABIN & JACK BURK

MUSIC VOLUNTEERS AT CHARLIE'S PLACE

Born and raised Baton Rougeans, Brian Babin and Jack Burk similarly began learning to play musical instruments when they were 7 or 8-years-old. For Brian, it was the saxophone. For Jack, it was the piano that his father bought and then put him into beginner lessons with an instructor who played piano at the once popular Italian Gardens Bar & Grill.

Brian played music throughout high school and his college career, but he stopped playing to focus on his studies while he was in law school at LSU. In 1997, he was invited to play in the Baton Rouge concert band, which he did for nine years. A few years later in 1999, Brian began playing solo acts at Ollie Steele Burden Manor. He was familiar with the Manor, as his late father spent time there between 1990 and 1994 prior to his passing from Alzheimer's disease. During those years of playing for Ollie Steele, Brian met a few people who had ties to Charlie's Place and Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area. It wasn't long before Brian began playing his saxophone at Charlie's Place in Baton Rouge once a month. After all, his life has been profoundly impacted by his father and other family members diagnosed of Alzheimer's disease.

"One Charlie's Place client tells me that he likes my music, but he wants me to play Boomer Sooner," Brian said. "I won't do it." Regardless of football ties, Brian truly enjoys playing his saxophone at Charlie's Place once a month. He enjoys when Charlie's Place clients sing songs along with him and that he's able to joke, teach and provide trivia about the music he is playing. "To see them respond to music is incredible," he says.

Brian Babin

All of Jack's piano teachers through the years wanted him to play classical music. When his high school freshman basketball team's practice occurred at the same time as his piano lessons, he told his mother he could no longer practice piano. He was interested in playing Rock-N-Roll and eventually joined the high school band where he began playing the bass drum. There he found other musicians that liked to play similar music, so together they joined a band. He began practicing eight to nine hours a day whenever he could. Throughout his high school and college years, he played sing-a-long songs at conventions and has played many gigs since. Even while in the service, he was a part of a trio band.

An Allstate insurance agent for 20+ years, as well as a realtor and a subdivision developer, he's truly a Jack-of-all-trades and has continued to provide musical entertainment for most of his life. He played in bands to supplement his income to provide for his family - his wife, Judy, and their three daughters. These days in retirement, he just plays for fun.

A few years ago, Jack was playing a gig at the City Club downtown when Charlie Valluzzo approached him about playing at Charlie's Place. Always an entertainer, but with no known history of Alzheimer's disease in his family, Jack began playing for Charlie's Place and enjoys doing so every month. Meet Jack just once and you know he's a character - always joking and laughing with the clients and staff.

In addition to playing at Charlie's Place in Baton Rouge twice a month, he also plays piano at Charlie's Place in Gonzales and at St. James Place. He works with the Trash and Treasure Sale each year, is a member of the Bengal Belles and on the board of directors for the Eye Bank. "I truly enjoy playing at Charlie's Place and I have fun," he said. "It helps me get my ham out."

BARBIE AND TERESA

CAREGIVERS

Living in a small town in Oklahoma, Teresa Combs shared an apartment with her mother, Barbara Phillips. Two and a half years into living with her mom, Teresa began noticing something was wrong.

“At first it was great,” Teresa exclaimed about living with her mom. “But then she started getting to the point when we went to church that if she went to the restroom by herself, she couldn’t find her way back to the Sunday School class again, or she would go in the choir room and wait there all by herself.”

Although Barbara’s progression of Alzheimer’s disease began slowly, Teresa confessed to her sister, Barbie, while talking on the phone one day that she didn’t know how much longer she could care for her mother by herself in Oklahoma. Teresa was overwhelmed, frustrated and exhausted from being her mom’s sole caregiver in a small town without resources to give her an opportunity to relax. This is when Barbie and her husband, Scott, offered to open their home here in Baton Rouge to both Teresa and her mother, Barbara. Today, the sisters are a team as together they face the trials of caregiving for their mother.

Teresa and Barbie both agree not much has changed about their mom’s personality from their childhood. Both describe their mother similarly as a woman who taught Sunday School to young children and sang in the choir. “Not much has changed about mom these days,” Barbie said. “She’s still strong-willed and she still enjoys playing games.”

“She’s reading some now, too,” Teresa added.

Charlie’s Place honestly has been a lifesaver - just getting that break a few times a week,” Barbie said. “It’s amazing.

While Teresa, Barbie, and their two other siblings, Alan and Karen, were growing up, Barbara worked as a secretary at The Boeing Company for many years before she retired. While growing up the four children were cared for by their grandmother, Barbara's mother, since Barbara worked full-time.

Now, Charlie's Place is their mom's "social club," as Teresa and Barbie call it. Both sisters need a break from time-to-time to relax and complete important tasks. Charlie's Place allows respite for them to watch a movie, go to the grocery store or run other errands.

In August 2016, their family was truly tested when their home in Baton Rouge was flooded. As the flood water continued to rise, Barbara trudged through waist-deep water along with the rest of her family to reach the boat to take them to safety. It was a blessing that Scott has family in Baton Rouge, and they were all were able to stay with some of his extended family while their home was gutted, cleaned and repaired.

Throughout this process, Teresa and Barbie kept their mother at their extended family's home away from their own home until it was repaired to avoid confusion. With family and friends helping each day, they were able to move back in around October 31st - much earlier than many in the area. Nonetheless, the whole ordeal did affect Barbara. Charlie's Place staff began to notice that Barbara began to cling more tightly to other Charlie's Place clients and staff. This has also been the case for Barbara when she's home each day, which has put an additional strain on Teresa and Barbie.

"Charlie's Place honestly has been a lifesaver – just getting that break a few times a week," Barbie said. "It's amazing."

APRIL 28, 2016 | RENAISSANCE BATON ROUGE HOTEL

OVER $365,000 RAISED IN FUNDS AND PLEDGES 17 NEW & 6 RENEWED ROSEMARY SOCIETY MEMBERS

Alzheimer's Services of the Capital Area launched The Rosemary Society, a major multi-year giving society, in 2002. The name was selected to reflect the symbolism of Rosemary, which is known as the herb of remembrance. Members pledge to donate a minimum of $1,000 annually for five years. Funds from this multi-year giving society help build a sustainable future for Alzheimer's Services by ensuring that our programs and services will be provided both today and tomorrow for the many families in our community who are coping with Alzheimer's disease. Over the years the Rosemary Society has grown through renewals and the addition of new members. Alzheimer's Services is grateful for all past and present members of the Rosemary Society.
